Kitchen Armor and Curbit Join Forces to Transform Kitchen Operations

Cutting-edge technologies optimize kitchen performance, improve guest satisfaction

IRVINE, Calif. (July 24, 2024) - Kitchen Armor, the leading provider of kitchen hardware automation, cutting-edge technology, and comprehensive consulting for restaurant operations, has announced a strategic partnership with Curbit.ai, a restaurant technology company specializing in AI-powered capacity management. The collaboration aims to optimize kitchen performance and improve guest satisfaction at scale.

The partnership will see Kitchen Armor offering Curbit's services, including dynamic promise times, real-time order progress updates, and comprehensive reporting data. Restaurants will benefit from enhanced order accuracy, reduced wait times, and improved customer satisfaction. "The Kitchen Armor team could not be more excited to partner with Curbit and bring this innovative solution to our customers," said Paul Amestoy, Co-Founder and Chief Strategist of Kitchen Armor. "By merging our innovative stainless-steel hardware solutions and extensive kitchen knowledge with Curbit's capabilities, we can offer restaurants a truly transformative solution that has already proven to be a game-changer for establishments."

Under the terms of the agreement, Kitchen Armor will become an official reseller of Curbit's innovative service. This collaboration will leverage Kitchen Armor's extensive dealer network and expertise in kitchen technology to expand the reach of Curbit's solutions, providing restaurants with seamless integrations and real-time capacity management capabilities.

"We are thrilled to partner with Kitchen Armor," said Fran Dougherty, CEO of Curbit. "Their strong presence in the KDS market complements our technology perfectly. Together, we aim to provide restaurants with the tools they need to optimize their operations and deliver exceptional customer experiences."

The partnership between Kitchen Armor and Curbit is already making waves in the restaurant industry, with brands reporting substantial improvements in efficiency and order fulfillment since implementing the integrated solution. With the combined expertise and progressive technology of both companies, the partnership is well-positioned to revolutionize kitchen operations.
